HOSPITAL SCHEME IS FAVORED BY DELEGATES AT EDGERTON

A representative meeting was held at Edgerton last Thursday, by delegates from the various municipalities and villages, together with U. F. A. and W. A. representatives in territory of which Wainwright is the centre. Among those present we note: Messrs Hill, Love and Wyatt, of Irma; Messrs May, Fish and Dewar, of Wainwright; Mr Morrow and Dr Smith of Edgerton; Messrs Keith and Saul, of Chauvin; Mrs Spencer of U. F. W. A. also representatives from the municipal districts and U. F. A.

A. E. Keith, of Chauvin was appointed chairman of the meeting, and W. J. Huntingford, of Wainwright, as secretary. The matter of hospitals was then thoroughly discussed. It was pointed out that it was most desirable that the territory along the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific should be organized without further delay, not only because hospital accommodation is urgently needed, but also because hospital districts are being organized along both the Canadian Northern and the Canadian Pacific lines and are encroaching on the territory tributary to this district and rateable to this district—thereby reducing our tax revenue on the one hand, and driving folks into districts more remote from hospitals on the other. And as the preliminary business of hospital organization takes about two years to be accomplished the meeting expressed itself heartily in favor of starting right away to organize this territory into a municipal hospital district, by a vote of 9 to 3.

The scheme, as at present outlined, calls for a cottage hospital, with five beds, at Irma, Edgerton and at Chauvin, with a larger central hospital at Wainwright.

To carry on the earlier work of organization, the following officers were elected pro. tem.

A. E. Keith, Chairman, Chauvin
H. P. May, Secretary, Wainwright

LOCAL LAKES TO BE INSPECTED

During the past few years, at various times, representations have been made to the proper department, to get some of our local lakes stocked with fish. The department have hitherto turned a deaf ear to all appeals. They have made several contentions, among which we may mention: that mineral salt adverse to fish life may exist; and, that shallow waters get too warm in summer and freeze too solid in the winter. Lately it has been proven that fish life is maintained in one or more of our local lakes, the year around, and the department have promised to send an official to investigate and report. Upon his report a decision will be made, and if favorable the suitable lakes will be stocked with such fish as the department decide.

CHAUVIN PRINTING WINS APPROVAL IN EDMONTON

Some auction posters, the work of the Chauvin Chronicle office, on display at the Edmonton Stockyards attracted the attention of several prominent business men, who remarked: "Why don't more printers do work like, See here, it says 'Printed on Canadian made paper by the Chauvin Chronicle'."

With the lone exception of blotting paper (not made in Canada until the past few months) this office does not use any paper made outside Canada, unless the customer insists on any specified paper for special orders.

There will be a concert and dance at Prosperity, April 1st. Watch for bills.

WELCOME TO TWO NEW BRIDES

Welcome to our new brides, who arrived from the East last Saturday.

Mr and Mrs Alex Benoit arrived Saturday last from Montreal. Their marriage was solemnized at St Zephirim, P. Q., February 2nd last. The brides maiden name being Miss Beatrice Couchesne.

John Couchesne returned to Chauvin by the same train, accompanied by his bride, who was Miss Regina Goutra. Their marriage was celebrated at the same place on February 12th.

They were received at the station very heartily by a large number of friends and well wishers.

ANOTHER NEW ARRIVAL

Romeo Benoit arrived from Quebec last Saturday. It is his intention to locate in this district.

SHAREHOLDERS MEETING

Called: WED. MAR. 23rd
CHAUVIN MILLING CO

Very important business is to be discussed at a general meeting of the shareholders, p. O. F. share holders of the Chauvin District Milling Co., Ltd. The meeting is to be held in the Oddfellow's Hall, at 2 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, March 23rd. Every shareholder urgently invited to be present.

HARRY MEDLA

TO HAVE DIED RECENTLY

Harry Medland, who homesteaded on the N.W. 24-43-3, in the Roros district in 1907, and resided there until about 1910 is reported to have died. He was a victim of the recent epidemic of "Flu" and since then has not enjoyed good health. He was expecting to have to undergo an operation at an early date. His death is now reported. Up to the time of going to press, we have been unable to confirm this report.

A POOR ATTENDANCE

There was but a poor attendance at the dance given by the Chauvin Orchestra last Friday. Evidently the list of public events of this nature is too full of events.

A FARM ACCOUNTING

SYSTEM THAT IS A GOOD THING FOR ANY FARMER

Duns and Bradstreets, the greatest mercantile agencies, both say that: "Carelessness is the greatest business criminal"—that 60 per cent of failures are due to this cause.

As a class, farmers are apt to be financially careless, very largely because there has hitherto been no complete method—so simple, the ordinary man could follow it—provided for keeping accurate account of their operations.

Scott's SIMPLIFIED Accounting System for Farmers meets this need. Kits forms providing for a monthly showing in every branch of farm work for five years—including a detailed inventory which will be accepted by any bank.

Following its simple principles, any farmer can keep accurate accounts—have a perfect check on every branch of farm work—it is a perfect book-keeping system—compiled by a banking expert especially for farmers.

The only system which is given a Systematized Pocket Note Book and simplifies your income tax return.

Ask to see the endorsement of the system by government officials and farmers' organizations officials, and leading financial men.

Copies can be obtained from the Chauvin Pharmacy.

LOCAL HEREFORD CATTLE PROVIDE 'BEST FEMALE' AT REGINA PURE BRED SALE

"Agnes Fairfax 34934", owned by J. S. Palmer, of Artland, was the winner of the ribbon awarded to the best female at the Regina Pure Bred Stock Show and Sale, March 10th.

This award is no small honor to the district in general, and to our good neighbour Palmer, in particular. It being won against the best that Saskatchewan can produce, including not alone the best individual breeders, but the splendid resources of the provincial experimental farm.

SCHOOL FAIR PRIZE LIST

A meeting of the committee to construct the school fair prize list was held at the home of Mr. Saul on Friday last. A full schedule of prizes including garden products, grains, cooking, sewing, art, penmanship, map drawing, live stock, etc., was drawn up.

Recommendations will be made to the general committee on April 9th, to expend something over two hundred dollars in prize money. In addition local subscriptions are being taken for special prizes. The prize list will be printed when adopted and then distributed to the schools concerned.

NOTES FROM THE NORTH EAST

Quite a crowd were at the school of this district, if you formed a local to meet in this school, and discuss matters that would be of material benefit to one and all of you, and now before I proceed to place the communications I have received upon this matter, let me warn you not to jump too hastily to any conclusion. Weigh the pros and cons impartially, and when you are called upon to give an answer, let it be a fully considered one. If you decide, after mature consideration, to form a branch then go to it with a right good will. Each and everyone to do his, or her, best for the movement, not for any personal gratification, or self praise, but for the common good of the common people. The officers you elect should be people of principle, enthusiastic, and not liable to tire after a few meetings. Men and women who are fearless in doing their duty by their local and their fellow members. Get officers of this description and you cannot fail. And when you have elected these people let the whole membership back them up in whatever they deem it necessary to do for the good of the district, and for Grain Growers in general. Many branches have been formed and failed through trying to do too much at the start. Go slowly at first and you will find that before very long you can launch out and do greater and better things by not being in too big a hurry at the start. You have heard me mention the women once or twice in my remarks. The time of the old adage "Men must work and women must weep" has passed. Women do their share in the work of the farm. Women have risen to having the franchise granted to them. Women have been called to the Bar, are practising medicine, and, in fact, are performing the same public functions as men, and very rightly so. Therefore if you men decide to form a branch of the Sask. Grain Growers Association, then the women must also get themselves busy and form their branch. They have their troubles to be righted as well as us. In their buying and selling they have to combat the same difficulties as we have and it is only by such or-

Two ladies on the local directorate. Congratulations, both to the local, and to the ladies elected.

Everything points to a good time at Brady on the 17th of OuldOireland. Be sure and be in time at it. The Learigg Dramatic Society will appear—enough said. Ladies please bring baskets.

It is proposed to open the Brady Sunday School about the middle of April. A meeting is being called shortly to discuss the programme for the season. It is hoped that this year will see a minister in the district, and that the school and services will keep up the success of last year, which was a record—not only for Brady, but for the district. All that is needed is a concerted effort on the part of officers and scholars to make the coming season even more successful than 1920.

There are to be many changes in our telephone system—watch developments. Our genial secretary, along with the directors, are leaving no stone unturned to get long distance.

LETTER OF THANKS

Mr and Mrs Kendal W. Coe wish to thank their many friends for an enjoyable evening on March 4th at Brady, also for the presents received on the occasion of their marriage.

It is our duty to make a correction of the report of prize winners in the seed potatoes classes at the Chauvin fair. The first prize for White Potatoes was won, not by Joseph Smith, Edgerton. The prize was won by Joseph Smith, Artland.

The young people of Airlie are practising for an entertainment on April 1st.

GRAIN GROWERS MEETING AT THE FRAM SCHOOL

The second meeting of the Fram local branch of the S.G.G.A. was held on Saturday evening, March 5th.

There was a splendid turnout and a good time was spent. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved on motion of Mr. W. Pritchett, seconded by Mr S. Ullis.

In support of this motion Mr Ken. W. Coe said:—Ladies and Gentlemen; When I first paid a visit to this school I was struck by the number of people that were present, and it made me wonder why no attempt had been made to form a Local branch of the Sask. Grain Growers Ass'n; and upon making enquiries I found that while everyone was in favor, in fact enthusiastic, of such scheme yet there was no one could find the necessary courage to come boldly into the open and take the lead. I was assured that the only thing needed was a leader. I left it at that, thinking that perhaps some one would step in and take the initiative, but when I came to Fram on February 4th and found that no action had been taken, I may frankly say that I was disappointed. We have two locals in the district around, and if you will not join a neighbouring local, well we must see if we cannot form you into a branch of your own. And so, with that end in view this meeting has been called to see if it would not be an advantage to the people of this district, if you formed a local to meet in this school, and discuss matters that would be of material benefit to one and all of you, and now before I proceed to place the communications I have received upon this matter, let me warn you not to jump too hastily to any conclusion. Weigh the pros and cons impartially, and when you are called upon to give an answer, let it be a fully considered one. If you decide, after mature consideration, to form a branch then go to it with a right good will. HIGH SCHOOL BREEZES

The best in rapid calculation for last week were: Ethel Goede, Eunice Hass, George Woodward.

Miss Freeman's room reopened on Monday after their enforced vacation. No further cases of Scarlet Fever have developed.

On Saturday, Thelma Villa and her father moved into the house, formerly occupied by Mr. Nooks.

The High School will be closed down during the Easter holidays as Mr. Laws is purposing to attend the Convention.

The junior H.S. grades are looking for gas masks. Grade XI have been the week and during the process gassed everyone within smell. Chlorine is the gas which is the basic element used in the preparation of the gases used during the Great War. It is heavier than air and stays low down, hence in the room keep your head from the floor. In fact most of the gases that do not support combustion are heavier than air. Even in a room, the purer air is up above, although it may feel stuffy.

A northern hairy woodpecker has its home in the woods near the slaughter house. Its "peek, peek", sounds cheerful on these cold days. To see it sitting on a tree, two toes pointed forward and pecking away like a steam hammer is an interesting sight.

We welcome into our midst Esther McAllister who is taking Grade X course.

S AUBINS SCHOOL CONCERT

A very pleasant evening was spent by everyone who attended the concert given by the scholars of the S. Aubin's school, last Thursday evening.

Considerable talent was displayed by the youthful artistes, and there was evidence in plenty of very careful preparation and tuition by the teacher, Miss Connoboy.

Have your car overhauled during the winter months and avoid the spring rush.

In House Of Commons W. J. Blair's Speech

OFFICIAL REPORT

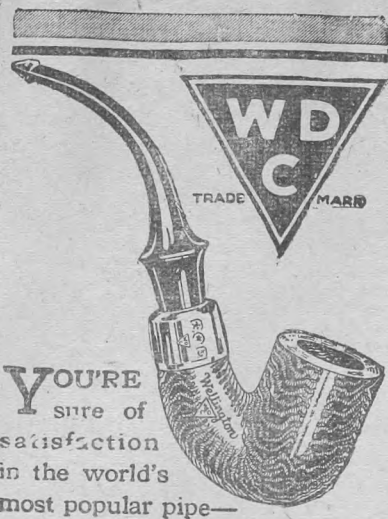

Mr. William John Blair (Battle River): Mr. Speaker, I do not know that it is necessary for me to take up the time of the House in further congratulating the Prime Minister (Mr. Meighen) on his elevation to that high office. I have already done that personally. I would, however, like to add my congratulations to the mover and the seconder of the Address on the able manner in which they performed their duty.

My intention in taking part in this debate is to touch upon two matters, both of which are of political importance to Western Canada. The first to which I refer is the matter of bringing on a general election at this time. In the year 1911 an election was sprung upon us just as the census figures were being completed, and for six years, from 1911 to 1917, the province from which I come was represented in this House by seven members instead of twelve, and a similar condition would no doubt arise again if an election were held before distribution took place. The mover of the amendment (Mr. MacKenzie King) has been recently through the West, and I think he will agree with me when I say that, as leader of his party, he has very little to hope for from the West. To bring on an election at this time would be taking an unfair advantage of particularly the four western provinces. Of recent months, I have been through my constituency a number of times, and I must admit there has been a demand for an election, but only from those who were opposed to this Government in the first place, and particularly from those who were opposed to this Government's war policy. I have not heard of a demand for an election from Liberals who supported me and who were many; I have not heard it from the Conservatives who supported me, and there were many of them too. The fact of the matter is that the people of the province of Alberta are not wasting very much time in thinking about party politics; they are attending to their business and going ahead as best they may.

The question which I want to deal to me of greater importance to the three Prairie Provinces than anything that has as yet been discussed in this House, is the matter of handling the farmer's grain. I need not state that agriculture is now and probably always will be the great industry of these provinces, and grain branch of agriculture. At the outset I want to say that I agree with the remarks and the suggestions made by the hon. member for Macdonald (Mr. Henderson) in the latter part of the speech which he made in this House the other day. Everything he is the truth, but I want to remind the hon. member that he did not, by any means, tell the whole truth. Indeed I do not know if there is in this house a member who is fully and well enough informed on the subject of handling grain and the disabilities under which the farmers work to be capable of telling the whole story. We get small threads of it here and there, we hear much of many of which are no doubt true, but they have not been established, and they have not been referred to particularly in this House. Of course, any disability under which the farmer suffers pertains somewhat also to the consumer; but, also as in most other lines, the man who is at the primary point of production is the first man to suffer from those injustices. I regret many of those who represent constituencies in the eastern provinces are not more fully acquainted with the methods by which grain is handled in Western Canada.

I would like to speak particularly on how completely the farmer is at the mercy of the grain dealer. When you consider that his grain is threshed and harvested and marketed, sometimes as far east of Fort William, in the course of a very few weeks, you can see that a good deal of the work that is done cannot be closely supervised, and the first opportunity the grain dealer has to "get" the farmer is the minute he drives his wagon load of wheat upon the scales of the country elevator. These scales are owned and controlled by the grain dealer, and are operated by one of his employees. A few days before I left my home, my nearest neighbour drove off the scales of a well-known elevator company of our town to the scales of another elevator company and found that there was a difference of eight bushels between the time he left one company and got to the other. Now that eight bushel loss means that the farmer was losing from ten to twenty per cent of his wheat, and at this point there will probably be marketed this year $1,500,000 of grain. So if all the companies as the one to which I refer hels in weight. That meant probably from 10 to 20 per cent of the value of the whole load of grain, and at the point where I live and market my grain, it would mean from $100,000 to $300,000 per year that would be taken out of the farmers of that immediate district. There are in the riding which I represent some 35 shipping points on the different lines of railway; so that it will be seen that if the government proposes to do anything towards investigating this condition, the place to begin is in the beginning, at the country elevators.

It would seem to me that a method could easily be devised to take the grain away from the elevator companies and place the handling of it under the control and direction of Government officials. In addition to the weighing of the grain at the country elevators, the operator of the local elevator is also charged with the grading of the grain under certain conditions, and this where the small farmer particularly is squeezed. The small farmer who has less than a carload of grain to ship drives up to the country elevator and is at the mercy of the operator, not only as regards the weighing of the grain, but so far as the grading as well is concerned. Grain sold in this way is referred to as street wheat, and as stated by the hon. member for Swift Current (Mr. Argue), there is no reason why there should be much spread between street wheat and track wheat when offered on the market at Fort William. But at one point on the lines of railway in my riding, there was a difference of as much as 47 cents a bushel between the street and track wheat on one particular day this fall, and at a point within 35 miles of this place on another line of railway some companies were operating and paying for street wheat only about 20 or 22 cents less than track wheat. There was a combine undoubtedly among the elevators operating at the first point—there can be no question in the world about that—and that combine existed for the purpose of killing competitive buying. At the other point were the ordinary methods of competitive buying were practised, and the farmers there were coming from greater distances, delivering their wheat and getting a square deal.

There is another phase of the question to which I want to refer, and that is the position in which the operator of the country elevator finds himself. He is as an employee of these large companies, some of them very large indeed, and he is engaged on a salary and put under heavy bonds. He is charged with the responsibility of taking in the grain, weighing it out and grading it, and in many cases paying for it. If there is a bank, payment is made by cheque, and if there is not he has to pay in currency. He loads his wheat or other grain into cars; it delivered at Fort William and weighed from the cars into the terminal elevators. It is never made known to him during the whole season how the cars weigh out. They may be short or over, but the facts are never made known to him and frequently at the end of the year, after everything is closed up, a representative of the elevator company comes along and without giving particulars, without telling him how these things happened, informs him that he is short, two, three or five hundred bushels, as the case may be, and the operator is ordered to make good the shortage. You see the temptation that is placed in the way of an operator of a country elevator. If he desires to be honest he has the knowledge that the club may be continuously swung over his head.

I might remind the House that during the past sessions we have heard about screenings or dockage, and we get some rather interesting information a session or two ago before a special committee of this House known as the Cost of Living Committee. I would like to explain that if those screenings were under three per cent at Fort William they become the absolute property of the terminal elevator. If they are over three per cent they become the property of the farmer. Now the farmer pays for the threshing of the wheat that he delivers to the country elevator and he pays that a cent and three quarters a bushel for handling it. He also pays the elevator a commission and he pays the freight. Yet at Fort William, when the screenings are three per cent or under, the terminal elevator gobbles the whole thing without having paid one cent in the matter of production, transportation or anything else.

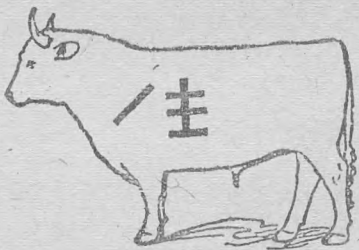

Mr J. F. REID: Who pays for the cleaning of the screenings?

Mr BLAIR: The terminal elevator, but I would be very glad to go into the terminal elevator business myself if I could get such a concession as I have described. As I say, the farmer pays every other charge, and in two crop years during the war the price at the terminal elevator of these screenings was $35 a ton. That is a higher price than is being paid on the market to-day for No. 2 C. W. oats ...

Mr MAHARG: Who regulates the screenings; who makes the recommendations in connection with that matter?

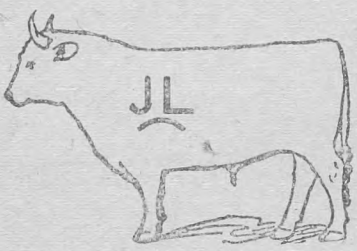

Mr BLAIR: It is perfectly legal, as I understand, for the terminal elevator to take three per cent.

Mr MAHARG: My question was, who makes the recommendation?

Mr BLAIR: I do not know that that matters. The point is that we want the whole thing investigated in order to bring out the facts. Now as to the matter of overages. That has been fully dealt with by the member for MacDonald (Mr. Henders), and I do not propose to say much upon that subject. I have heard it argued that the terminal elevator should get the overages, because it must pay for the shortages. Now I do not know of any more convincing way to answer that argument than to say that such a contention amounts to this: Because the terminal elevators pay for what they are caught stealing they should be allowed to get away with what they are not detected in stealing.

A great deal has been said in respect to the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Properly and honestly conducted, a grain exchange cannot be objected to. It is a legitimate place for buyers and for sellers, just as much as in the case of other commodities. But the Winnipeg Grain Exchange has become practically the whole channel through which our western wheat reaches the eastern miller and the buyer overseas. One rule that I believe exists with the Winnipeg Grain Exchange is objectionable. The member for MacDonald explained how prices are fixed at country places. These prices are sent out by the North West Grain Dealers' Association each day, after having been fixed by an officer of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, and the rule to which I refer declares that any member of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange who is found paying a higher price than that authorized by its officer is doomed to expulsion from the organization.

I have had personal experience in this matter. On one occasion I sold three carloads of oats to a member of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. He signed a contract on a certain date and I had the privilege of shipping these oats later on. When I was ready to ship the oats the price had dropped. They were loaded through the elevator of a well known grain company and immediately these oats were shipped to this company, they wrote and asked me why I had not sold my oats to them. I replied that I had been able to get a higher price than they were willing to pay me. I immediately got a request for all the papers and documents in connection with the transaction, but I refused to comply with the request, and, so far as I know the matter was dropped. But the point I want to make is that if these people are able to penalize the man who goes out into the open competitive market and buys from the farmer at a higher price than the price authorized at Winnipeg, they do so if they can find a way.

I now want to say a word or two with reference to the Wheat Board. Like every other public institution that board at one stage of its existence was extremely unpopular, and at another stage it became extremely popular. I am quite sure that if I had been in the hands of fifteen committee men in my riding in the year 1919 they would have forced my resignation from this House. I am just as sure that if my resignation had then taken place, my successor would also have been recalled last fall because the Wheat Board was not re-established. The fact of the matter is that the unpopularity of the Wheat Board was the result of the persistent and systematic agitation carried out by men who wanted to knock this Government by any means they could.

employ for this purpose. These men went about the country and told the people that the participation certificates or the "anticipation" certificates were next to valueless, and I know one man in my neighbourhood, who, took his certificates home and threw them in the stove. Other men sold them in great numbers for a price not greater than twenty-one cents a bushel. Eventually these certificates were redeemed at forty-eight cents a bushel. These agitators—some of them paid agitators—who went through the country working up this agitation for the sole purpose of knocking the present Government, through the Wheat Board, caused a loss to the farmers which aggregated hundreds and thousands and perhaps millions of dollars. They told the farmers that this Government was their enemy, but they awakened one day to find out that their real enemy was to be found right in their own organization. The Wheat Board rendered efficient and valuable service to the farmers of Western Canada, and I have here a testimonial which I think ought to bear some weight with the members of this that these difficulties can be effectively overcome. The social side of ganizations as we propose to-night the question must come first, the trading can follow later if you wish.

If you fix a Saturday night for your monthly meetings I would suggest the first or third Saturday in each month, as our friends at Brady meet on the last Saturday, and the Marsden local on the second Saturday, and I am quite sure you do not wish to clash with their meetings. There is now nothing else for me to say, except to wish you all success in your venture, and to assure you of any assistance I can give in order for you to reach your objective."

Mr. A. Lavold, acting as chairman of the meeting then suggested that before coming to the election of officers, that all present be invited to become members of the new local, and that only those who did so could be nominated for office, and could vote. This was adopted, and the election of officials then took place with the following results:

President: Mr Kendal W. Coe
Vice-president: Mr W. Pritchett
Directors: (5) Mrs Axel Gabrielson; Mrs Ken W. Coe; Mr. A. Lavold; Mr P. Wogberg and Mr H. Ostrum.

The secretary-treasurer will be elected later, in the meanwhile the president undertook to act in that capacity.

It was decided to hold meetings on first Saturday of each month. The meeting then closed to meet again on April 2nd, when it is hoped to have a speaker from another local present.

REGARDING FIREARMS

In view of the fact that considerable uncertainty still exists in the public mind as to the new regulations regarding firearms, we herewith publish a summary of amended laws.

A British subject who had in his possession a shot gun prior to the passing of the amendment, July 1920, does not require a permit for it. He does require a permit for any other arms in his possession, including shot guns which may have been purchased since July 1920.

An alien requires a permit for all arms in his possession.

A special permit is required in order to carry upon the person a revolver or other offensive weapon.

Permits can be granted under the act by any commissioned officer or the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, or the superintendent of the Alberta Provincial Police, by a stipendiary, district, or police magistrate or sheriff or chief constable of any city or incorporated town.

The party granting the permit must be satisfied as to the good character of the applicant, and that he is a fit and proper person to be allowed to have arms in his possession.

These permits are good for a term not exceeding twelve months from the date of issue. They shall not be good or have any force or effect beyond the limits within which the person granting the same has jurisdiction or has power to exercise the duties of his office.

Such permit may be cancelled at any time by competent authority for thereon the name of maker, registered number, general description of each arm covered by such permit.

Parties living within incorporated cities and towns should apply to the chief constable of such incorporation. Those living outside such incorporation should apply to the nearest stipendiary or police magistrate. Those who are not in touch with a resident magistrate should apply to the nearest officer of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police or to the superintendent of the Alberta Provincial Police Edmonton.

WHEAT CERTIFICATES

Participation certificates to the value of thousands of dollars are still in farmers' hands. The government's obligation to pay the these certificates ceased automatically on December 31st, but since so many certificates are still outstanding it has been decided to continue payment until March 31st. Farmers who have lost their certificates may file claim for same with the Wheat Board. Affidavit and in some cases, bonds are required as to the validity of the claim, but any proper claim will be paid by the Board. It is announced that after March 31st all moneys remaining in the hands of the Wheat Board will be turned over to the Dominion Government, and no further claims paid. Readers who have not cashd their participation certificates or who have lost them, or for any reason whatever have not been paid their share of the interim or final payment on wheat, should file their claim without delay. The address to write to is: Chairman, Canadian Wheat Board, Winnipeg

CLEANING UP SEED GRAIN

Under the most ideal conditions a man only reaps the same proportion of good seed that he sows; while frequently, weather and other conditions are unfavorable and the proportion of good seed in the harvest is far less than it was in the seed that was planted.

Every small and inferior seed or weed seed that produces a plant, takes up land that might otherwise be occupied by a plant grown from good seed. The poorer plants and weeds require labor to harvest, labor to thresh, and labor to market, that might have been spent on good grain. Finally, such plants give no return on capital whether it is invested in the land, in the seed or in the machinery used in producing the crop. The man who is careless of the kind of seed he sows cannot hope or expect a profit from his labor.

There are three common methods of preparing grain for seed. The one in which the farmer takes his seed direct from the bin, sowing it as it came from the threshing mill, year after year, until even he is ashamed to use it again, and buys a new supply. Then there is the farm on which a fanning mill is treated as a sort of necessary evil, the grain is rushed through as fast as possible, and no attempt is made to remove anything but some of the finer weed seeds and the very coarse straw and chaff. Even this is a decided improvement on the first method. Finally there is the method by which through careful adjustment and operation of the fanning mill, the seed is carefully cleaned and graded. All the weed seeds are removed except those that are almost necessary.

as the large seeds that are light seeds and so are blown out by the screens, and the weight or shape of the seed, and the seed is capable of producing uniform grade of crop.

It is the last method which requires careful attention to details, such as the testing out of different kinds of screens; different rates of speed; the amount and direction of the wind blast, etc., all of which require time and patience. For this reason the man who is wise does not leave the cleaning of his seed until the day before he is ready to use them, but does the work during the winter or early spring, when he can devote more time to doing a thorough job.

The operation by which good grain is separated from small grain is based upon one or two fundamental principles. For this reason all fanning mills are more or less alike in their general construction. Two natural forces are utilized in separating the good grain from the bad. These are gravity and wind. The fanning mill makes use of these forces by reason of the difference in weight of the seeds or their variation in shape or size.

The common type of fanning mill consists essentially, of a hopper into which the grain to be cleaned may be poured, certain combinations of sieves and screens, a fan to produce wind, and collecting troughs for the different grades of grain. The hopper is equipped with an adjustable feed which can be very carefully regulated to give any desired rate of flow of the grain through the mill. Sieves are usually arranged so that there is one with rather a coarse mesh at the top which will permit all the good seed to pass through but keep broken straws, coarser seeds, etc. Underneath this is placed one or more screens which are just fine enough mesh to prevent the good plump seed from passing through, but will permit the passage of all fine seeds, sand and dirt.

In passing through and over the different sieves the grain is subject to a blast of wind from the fan, which may be controlled so that it is strong or weak as desired. This removes all seeds that are light in weight and by regulating the force of the wind and the rate of flow of the seed, all but the plump, heavy seeds may be removed. There are, then, three important points to consider in operating the mill—the rate at which the grain flows through the mill, the selection and adjustment of the proper screens, and the control of the wind blast. To these may be added two other important details, namely, the rate of speed at which the mill is turned, and the amount of shake given to the screens. Both these should be at least equal to the rate given by the manufacturer and the speed should be uniformly maintained.

Poor results are usually due to lack of attention to one or more of the essential details. The grain is fed through the mill too fast, the wrong sized sieve is used, particularly at the bottom; there is too slow or irregular turning of the mill; or else the wind is too strong or too weak. All these different adjustments must be tried out and the ideal condition found for each kind of grain before good results can be expected. One common source of poor results from cleaning grain is the desire to secure as much seed as possible from a given lot of grain.

Mrs Armour, from the Women's Institute said that the feeling seemed to be that the National holidays should be celebrated, and that if the Athletic Association did not hold their sports day on that day they would have a picnic; but they would rather see the Athletic Association have that day.

PRINTING IS AN ART

The thralldom of the Dark Ages was broken by the introduction of the Art of Printing. All modern progress is based on knowledge. With the spreading of knowledge the fields of invention, industry and commerce were widened and made more prolific.

The Art of Printing had developed enormously. It has reached a stage of perfection undreamed of by Gutenberg and his early disciples. With the aid of the most highly perfected machinery it is now possible to produce perfect copies a thousand fold more rapidly than the earlier crude productions.

For obvious reasons, the country printer has been slower to modernize his equipment than the printer in the city. Thus the term "Country Printer" has carried with it a stigma of poor or inferior produce.

On the other hand city printers are establishing their operating plants in the country, for they are finding it more economic; and at the same time more congenial for the operatives.

The Chauvin Chronicle is steadily developing along its own line. It has a modern plant, situate away from the city. It is producing city standard work, and is making every effort to demonstrate that the term "country printer" may stand for what it really means: that is "a master of his own art, and a servant of all other activities".

W. J. Blair's Speech In House Of Commons

House. This testimonial was given by a member of the Wheat Board, it was given by the man who is the President of the United Farmers of Alberta, Mr H. W. Woods; it was given at a public meeting, attended by some two thousand farmers and the report of the proceedings appeared in a paper which is not always friendly to the present Government, the Edmonton Bulletin. This is a verbatim report from the Edmonton Morning Bulletin:

"The Canadian Wheat Board during its existence saved the Canadian farmer 50 millions of dollars and I am certain that if it continues to sell their grain along the same lines as before its abolition by the Government that it would save the farmers of this country several millions more"

"The Wheat Board in the past has rendered efficient service and there is no reason why it cannot be continued until you get the right kind of men on the Board. But let me tell you this, just as soon as you get politics and inefficiency mixed up with it, then give me the open market"

Now, I want the members to note the significance of Mr Wood's statement. He stated that in handling the wheat crop alone $50,000,000 was saved to the farmers of Western Canada in one year. If the same efficiency and good results had been secured from the handling of all other grain, that is, oats, flax, barley and rye, another $50,000,000 would have been saved;

ed; that would be $100,000,000 according to the testimony of Mr H. W. Woods, who is not politically a friend of this Government. I want to emphasize that the ordinary charges made by the Wheat Board for commission, handling, freight, storage and insurance were not less than those under ordinary conditions. So it follows that, if the statement is correct, the farmers of Western Canada might have saved an equal amount, and that in other years they were deprived of this amount of money by the grain dealers.

I think it would be well for the Government to investigate the means of marketing Western grain when the saving may be so great as $100,000,000 a year. We have got in the habit of thinking in big figures, but let us consider for one minute what $100,000,000 would do. It would pay almost the interest upon the national debt; it would build 400,000 miles of rural telephone line—that is worth considering—it would build 2000 miles of railway; it would put under cultivation 10,000,000 acres of raw prairie land; it is more money than has already been loaned by Soldiers' Settlement Board and it would pay the duty on all agricultural implements imported into the Dominion in a period of sixty years.

I have referred to the spread between the street and track wheat and other grain. I have talked to some of those who are of the type I referred to at the beginning of my remarks, and who want an action. They will say that there is not much spread at points on the Canadian Pacific Railway—and they are not altogether wrong in saying so—but that generally speaking the spread was greater on the Grand Trunk Pacific and at Canadian Northern points. But I have the word of the president of one of the largest grain firms in Winnipeg to the effect that both the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National handled the Western grain this last year better than they handled before. The volume of wheat and again I am sure the touch of pocket. It is a curious thing when who are to-day Canadian National system. I have heard more of the Canadian Pacific for forty years. They at last come to the conclusion that the Canadian Pacific is a pretty good institution and that the Canadian National is all wrong.

I want to urge most strongly on the Government that they investigate every phase of the marketing of wheat and other grain from the time the farmer drives his wagon on the scales at the country elevator point to the time that the grain reaches Liverpool or until it is handled into the mills in Eastern Canada. I have heard more complaints about the way our grain has been handled this last year, and especially since the farmers got acquainted with the efficiency of the Wheat Board, than I have heard concerning any phase of the economic life of Western Canada, and I feel sure that if the Government conducts a thorough investigation to find out out where the abuses are, and the remedy for those abuses, it will do a greater service to the grain growers of Western Canada than any other action that this government has taken or can take or that any Government in the past has taken. Certainly the Government will render a greater service to the farmers of these three provinces than anything that has been suggested by our friends in either Opposition party. I hope that such an investigation as was proposed by the hon. member for MacDonald (Mr-Hender) will be proceeded with and that it will have concluded its labours in time to have the results formulated before the next season's crop is harvested and ready for the market.

A GOOD REASON

At the entrance of the Dollar Bank building, a colored man hesitated in front of the office directory and carefully scanned the list of names.

"Well, you'll be safe in taking almost any on the list."

"But Ah wants a fus' class man!"

"Well, why not go to Umson?"

RURAL MUNICIPALITY OF
MANITOU LAKE, No. 442

Notice Re
Gopher Poisoning

The Council of the Municipality are spending considerable money each year for poison for the destruction of money, they consider that it should be spent in such manner as to kill the most Gophers.

It is of no use for the council to get a supply of poison and have it used when the poisoners think they have time to put it out. This system is absolute waste of money, and as it your money the council ask that the Gophers will be poisoned as soon in the spring as they start to come out, and that another dose could be set out about two weeks after the first with good effect.

If any quarters are poisoned by a ratepayer and those adjoining are not poisoned in reasonable time by the ones whom should poison them, the council ask that the location of the unpoisoned quarters be given to the councillor of the division in which they are in, these lands will then be liable to be entered upon and the poison laid and charged to the owner as are company lands.

The poison for this year is now on hand and will be ready when the time comes to lay it out.

Travel Will Prove
Good Investment

In every person's life at some time or other there comes a feeling of utter exhaustion, or as some say "Fed Up" with a general lack of interest in their everyday surroundings. Hard work is as a rule blamed for this condition, and little is done to remedy it until too late and the family physician is called. Work may be to a certain extent responsible for this condition, but the chief reason is the lack of a change, a relaxation of the mind. Get away for a few weeks vacation, see new sights and how the rest of the world live. Enjoy a change of climate. There are thousands of interesting places in Canada which may be enjoyed either winter or summer, and within easy reach via the Canadian Pacific Railway.

A trip at any season of the year send you back with renewed vigor, broader views and much wiser from the knowledge gained. A postal card to any Canadian Pacific Agent will bring you literature and information desired.

The importance of birds to agriculture is always under-estimated. They are essential to its very existence. Were it not for the hawks, and owls, meat eaters: the finches, weed-seed eaters: the warblers and scores of other insect eaters; grain loving rodents, weeds and insects would together combine to make agriculture an impossibility.

Indications are that a general move wage scales, long forecasted by railroad officials, will be in full swing before many weeks elapse. The American roads have already commenced the process and it is expected that Canadian roads will soon follow.

British Columbia is running into all sorts of trouble in its effort to make that province moderately wet. Pretty soon it will know definitely that there isn't any such thing as "moderation" in liquor. British Columbia, like Alberta, will either become very wet or very dry, and we figure the people will make it dry at first opportunity.
